

HIGH CAPACITY SICKLE SECTION

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A sickle knife section is adapted to be used with existing sickle guards in connection with a harvester, mower or the like. The knife sections have concave cutting edges on opposite sides of a central plane that are circular, and the cutting edges are along a line that moves away from a central plane of the knife section from a leading end of the knife section to position where the concave cutting edges intersect side edges of the knife section.